

REASONS TO CONSIDER

High Growth Potential

The global demand for hydrogen is expected to nearly double between 2021 and 2030.

1

Global Coverage

Hydrogen-powered fuel cells produce zero direct emissions, meaning broader adoption could result in reduced greenhouse gas emissions and improved air quality.

2

Global Tailwinds

The shift to green energy isn't confined to a single sector or region. HGEN invests accordingly, with global exposure across multiple industries.

INDEX DESCRIPTION

The Solactive Global Hydrogen ESG Index is made of 30 hydrogen businesses in developed markets plus Korea and Taiwan. Hydrogen companies are identified by Solactive using natural language processing, which reads through companies’ public documents, websites and media releases to determine their primary business activity.

Identified hydrogen companies are then split between pure-play and non-pure plays using FactSet’s RBICs sector classification system. Those in RBICS sub industries: Fuel Cell Equipment, Technology Providers, Thermal and Chemical Processing Machinery Makers are identified as “pure-plays”. Those outside these sectors are non-pure plays.

The index universe includes an environmental, social and governance (ESG) screen that removes companies non-compliant with the UN Global Compact Principles; and companies producing revenue from Controversial Weapons, Small Arms, Gambling, Recreational Cannabis & Tobacco, Thermal Coal, Conventional and Unconventional Oil & Gas. Further details regarding the ESG exclusions are available at <https://www.solactive.com/>.

The top 30 companies by market capitalisation are picked. The weights of each pure play stock are capped at 10%. While the weights of non-pure plays are capped at 4%.
